THIS IS DIVIDEND WEEK DO NOT LET IT PASS YOU

Are You Going to Win the $25.00 Bank Account. The Road to Wealth is Steep. Have You Taken Your First Step?

There are four more days left of "Dividend Week". Have you yet earned the $25 Savings Account and piled up your count for the Yearly Prize? If not, you have four more days in which to do so. Get busy. The time is flying and when it is gone it is too late to regret its loss. A minute wasted is a minute lost. This you know, so do not hesitate.

Already many of the candidates have been busy gathering in the new yearly subscriptions for the $25 Savings account. This is WISE, for with the arrival of 10 o'clock Wednesday night, "Dividend Week" will end and with it the chance to win $25 and the opportunity to pile up your count for the yearly prize, the $60 Birdseye Maple bedroom suite. This is the best and last offer of this kind. Now, when we say that this is the best and last offer of this kind that we will make during the contest we mean exactly what we say.

THE EASIEST PROFITS

Andrew Carnegie, while working in the Steel Works at Homestead, Penn., started a savings account, placing therein a fixed sum of money each week for several years. Finally with a flotation of the Western Union Telegraph Company's stock Mr. Carnegie withdrew his money and invested it there. This stock raised on the market by leaps and bounds and Mr. Carnegie sold it for thousands of times the amount he paid, using the money he received to start the Pittsburgh Iron Steel and Coke Company, which is now one of the largest subsidiaries of the U. S. Steel Company. This is just one more instance of what a Savings Account will do, or in other words, what money will do at the right time in the right place.

When one figures on their financial rating, which when personally figured is one's income putting it plainly, it is not how much you earn but how much you save. A story is told of a man who went to Mr. Harriman, the president of the Southern Pacific railway, and asked for financial aid during the panic in 1896. Mr. Harriman replied to his friend: "George, do you really need any financial aid?" The latter replied that if he hadn't he wouldn't have come to him. "Well, George," said Mr. Harriman. "If you will do as I ask you to for the next three months, and if during that time you really get up against it, come to me and I'll help you out. Will you promise to do this for me, George?" The latter replied he would. "Well then, this is what I want you to do. You have two nice driving teams, and you are in the habit of driving your friends and banqueting them at your home. I want you to sell the teams and figure out what the dinner parties cost you and put the money into a Savings Account in the bank to draw on as you need it."

At the end of three months Mr. Harriman's friend called on him again and said he was getting along fine; thanked Mr. Harriman and was about to leave the office when the latter called him back, saying, "I'm not through with you yet, George. You are in the habit of smoking a few cigars a day and drinking moderately with your friends. I want you to cut out that expense and add it to the Savings Account and come and see me three months hence again." "All right, Mr. Harriman, following your suggestion, I will." At the end of three months Mr. Harriman's friend again returned and asked him "what his pleasure would like this time." "Nothing, George, only how much have you put into the Savings Account during the last six months?" "Well, to tell the truth, to date (this being the last of the month) I've laid away a little over $6000. Not so bad. What do you think?" Well, George, I don't think you need any help from me, do you?" "No, I don't, though I got it when you gave me your advice."

We may not be able, like Mr. Harriman's friend, to curtail our living expenses so as to be able to save over $6000 in six months, because in all probability that is more than the majority of us are earning. Nevertheless we can curtail our expenditures in some quarters so as to be able to lay away in a savings account a snug little sum for a time of need.

The savings account represents a portion of our easiest profit. The income derived from the curtailing of needless personal luxuries that we are really better without. The amount of these at the moment seems small, but the pennies when collected together soon make dollars and that's the profit.

Many's the man and woman whose

The leaders today: Kathleen Rounds, 22930; Gertrude Peterson, 14256; Bessie Paine, 13145.

That the road to wealth is steep is well known to all and few there are whose strength holds out long enough to reach its aerial heights. Some forty years ago John D. Rockefeller, then a young man, attempted to borrow four thousand dollars to float the Standard Oil Company with, and was refused the loan by several wealthy men and bankers for the lack of security. Finally, however, he was able to negotiate a loan for the amount he wanted. He was able to do this because of the fact that the banker of whom he borrowed the sum knew him to be a cautious business man and methodical saver. It was the impression Mr. Rockefeller made on the banker by his knowledge of the power of money and its capabilities that gave the Oil King the capital to float the largest, strongest and most powerful corporation in the United States or the world today, with the exception of the London Diamond Trust, which in point of wealth is the only one that surpasses the Standard Oil Company.

When once you have started a Savings Account and save methodically you are giving yourself a rating in the world of finance and gaining the confidence of the powers that reign therein. A Savings Account is the first step in everybody's financial career. It is the step at the foot of the stairway of success and success means wealth.

wealth today is reckoned in six figures who started life by laying aside each day a trifle. Did you ever stop to think that by putting ten cents into a savings account each day that at the end of the year you will have $36.50 in the bank, which will draw you $1.08 in interest the following year, increasing the original amount to $37.58. Then $36.50 added to that the next year will increase your savings to $74.08 and so on until in a few years, without your knowledge, almost, you find you have several hundred dollars to your credit in the bank. There are many ways to save. This is one of the hundreds.

JOSEPH W. FOLK.

Missourian Is a Candidate for Presidential Nomination.

FOLK WILL SEEK THE NOMINATION

Missourian Would Be Presidential Candidate.

St. Louis, June 3.—Missouri Democrats of all factions at a dinner here heard former Governor Joseph W. Folk announce the principles on which, it is said, he will seek the presidential nomination in 1912. The dinner was in charge of men who have been promoting the boom of the former governor.

"The doctrine of equal rights should be made a living, vital and controlling force in the government," said Mr. Folk, after he had listened to Democrats from all parts of the state tell the guests that the former governor is the man they should indorse for the presidency.

"The Democratic party should insist upon the stamping out of graft and corruption from every department of government, the eradication of all special favors, including bounties, subsidies, and a tariff for any purpose other than revenues.

"We need the honest, sincere enforcement of the laws we already have and the regulation of the rates of public utilities corporations upon a reasonable basis, that justice may be done the people and a fair return for the amount actually invested be afforded."

Other principles named by the speaker were the preservation of the rights of the states to self-government, the restriction of American territory to the Western hemisphere as a necessary corollary of the Monroe doctrine, the extension of American trade by revising the restriction upon commerce, a just income tax, the election of United States senators by direct vote, and unrelenting opposition to the domination of the public affairs by special interests and the elimination of such influences from politics.

WILLIAM J. CONNERS IS OUT

Retires as Chairman of New York State Democratic Committee.

New York, June 3.—To the accompaniment of bows, smiles and mutual felicitations, William J. Connors retired from office as chairman of the Democratic state committee and John A. Dix of Greenwich, Washington county, was elected in his place.

Arthur A. McLean of Newburgh was re-elected treasurer, and John A. Mason of New York, who has served as clerk for several years, was made secretary.

It took the committee less than an hour to elect these men, hear the valedictory of Chairman Connors, listen to the maiden speech of Chairman Dix and rake the Republican party and Governor Hughes over the coals. During the meeting there was not a single evidence of even a difference of opinion. Dix praised Connors; Connors promised his loyal support; and the whole committee thanked him for what he had done.

GATHER IN THE PRISON CITY

Hundreds of Traveling Men Attend Convention.

Stillwater, Minn., June 3.—Stillwater established a reputation as a convention city in a reception tendered to over 600 visiting delegates of the United Commercial Travelers, who attended the opening day of the grand council session and convention. The knights of the grip came from all over Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. There are approximately 1,100 members of the order who were authorized to visit Stillwater as accredited delegates and the trains coming into the historic city of the hills by the St. Croix are crowded with the commercial travelers and their friends.

Little business of importance was transacted, the delegates contenting themselves with getting acquainted with their new surroundings, flashing their badges advertising the virtues of their respective cities and attending the opening session, where an elaborate programme in which Mayor James W. Foley and other citizens of Stillwater and Governor Fisher took part.

In the afternoon a business session was held at which the credentials of visiting delegates were received.

TWICE ACROSS THE CHANNEL

English Aviator Flies With an American Machine.

CAPTAIN ROLLS MAKES TRIP

British Army Officer Travels From Dover to the Coast of France and Back Again Without Alighting—Performs Feat With a Wright Biplane. Atmospheric Conditions Excellent.

Dover, Eng., June 3.—The Hon. Charles Stewart Rolls, captain in the London section of the army motor reserve, driving a Wright biplane, vindicated Anglo-Saxon aeronautics by crossing the English channel twice without alighting. He made the round trip between Dover and Calais in ninety minutes.

While two Frenchmen, Louis Bleriot and Count de Lesseps, have crossed the channel in an aeroplane it remained for an Englishman in an American machine to perform the double feat. The distance across between the two points named is twenty-one miles, so that his over water flight of forty-two miles without a stop establishes a new record.

Captain Rolls left Dover at 6:30 o'clock. The atmospheric conditions were excellent. He lost no time in maneuvers, but after describing a circle headed toward the coast of France. In anticipation of the flight torpedo boats steamed at full speed across the straits, but the pace of the aeroplane was swifter.

Captain Rolls sent his machine to a height of 800 feet and at that altitude he skimmed through the air like a great bird. The motor worked perfectly. The crowd that watched the start confidently awaited the return and it was not long before the speck which those who had telescopes saw disappear on the French coast reappeared, growing larger with every minute.

When finally the aviator became visible to the naked eye cheer after cheer arose from the enthusiastic spectators and as he gracefully soared toward the landing place made famous by Bleriot he was given an ovation. He alighted at 8 o'clock at almost the same spot as Bleriot, showing little signs of the strain of his magnificent flight.

BLAMES THE PROGRESSIVES

Tawney Angry Over Amendment of Sundry Civil Bill.

Washington, June 3.—Representative Tawney, chairman of the committee on appropriations, is an angry man.

A combination of the Democratic minority and a few progressives, among them Representatives Lindbergh of Minnesota and Gronna of North Dakota, forced an amendment into the sundry civil bill which does not meet with Mr. Tawney's approval or that of other house leaders. The obnoxious amendment was offered by Representative Hughes, a New Jersey Democrat. It provides that no part of the money appropriated by the bill to prosecute the trusts shall be used in suits against labor organizations. The amendment was adopted after an exciting scene. On a teller vote demanded by Mr. Tawney the Hughes amendment was finally incorporated in the bill by a vote of 51 to 52.

Representative Tawney held the progressives responsible for this result. Representative Dwight, the Republican whip, blamed about fifty or more regulars who were not present. The house leaders are getting in a very ugly frame of mind over absenteeism. They may resort to last recourses to enforce the attendance of members.

ROOSEVELT MEETS CROMER

Former President and the Noted Briton Dine Together.

London, June 3.—Theodore Roosevelt and Lord Cromer, British agent and consul general in Egypt from 1883 to 1907, were guests at a dinner given by John St. Loe Strachey, proprietor of the Spectator, in honor of Mr. Roosevelt. They sat on either side of the host.

Colonel Roosevelt and Lord Cromer are believed to be perfectly agreed on Egyptian policies and that the complaints of sentimental tendencies which the former president voiced at the Lord Cromer's administration.

Bleached Flour Case.

Kansas City, June 3.—J. H. Shephard, a professor in the chemistry department of the South Dakota state college, testified in the federal court that bread from bleached flour was not as nutritious as that made from unbleached. He was the only witness during the day in the "bleached flour" case.

Banquet to Bishop Lawler.

St. Paul, June 3.—Rev. J. J. Lawler, auxiliary bishop of St. Paul, was the honored guest at a testimonial reception and banquet given in the palm room of the Saint Paul hotel by the Catholic clergy and laity of the city. About 250 were present to extend congratulations to the new bishop. The event of the evening was the presentation to Bishop Lawler of a check for $4,500, contributed by members of the Cathedral parish, over which he presided for many years.

SENATOR R. L. OWEN.

Who Favors the Election of Senators by Popular Vote.

SENATORS BY DIRECT VOTE

Robert L. Owen Says It Will Prevent Corruption of Legislatures.

Washington, June 3.—The submission of a constitutional amendment for the election of senators by direct vote of the people was urged by Senator Owen of Oklahoma in a speech in the senate, who claimed, among other things, that the ratification of the proposed amendment will "prevent the corruption of legislatures" and "compel candidates for the United States senate to be subjected to the severe scrutiny of a campaign before the people and compel the selection of the best fitted men."

Senator Owen recalled that on four separate occasions the house has by a two-thirds vote passed a resolution proposing the amendment and that the senate has on each occasion failed to submit such an amendment to the people.

Thirty-six states, over three-fourths of the total number, the speaker said, have expressed themselves favorably to the election of senators by direct vote of the people.

SITUATION PUZZLES RAILROAD LAWYERS

All at Sea Regarding Enjoining of Freight Rates.

Chicago, June 3.—Presidents, traffic managers and lawyers representing eight big railroad systems centering in Chicago found themselves considerably at sea as to the real politico-railroad situation when they met in the office of President Ripley of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe.

So little of a definite nature was known by the conferees as to what specific rates have been enjoined, and what arguments were brought to bear on President Taft that those at the meeting found themselves without a well defined subject for discussion, according to one official who was present.

Some expressed the opinion that the president had been misled by statements of shippers, while others were inclined to seek a political motive behind the St. Louis injunction. A direct expression from the White House will be sought, possibly, it is said, by a personal visit to President Taft by heads of important railroad companies.

The meeting of railway counsel scheduled informally for today will not be held until Monday, as it was found that many of the lawyers could not reach Chicago by today.

The committee of shippers appointed at the meeting here May 17 will meet next Tuesday to consider action on the tariff advance announced for July 1 and 5 by Eastern railroads.

IN INHERITANCE TAX CASE

Attorney General Clark of South Dakota Wants a Rehearing.

Pierre, S. D., June 3.—Attorney General Clark is not satisfied with the finding of the supreme court in the McKenna inheritance tax case, in which the court held that the inheritance tax law is unconstitutional. His contention is that the law is good, and he has filed a petition for rehearing which will act as a stay of procedure. The decision has brought many inquiries from county treasurers over the state as to further collections of this tax, under the ruling of the court.

Kills Divorced Husband.

Libby, Mont., June 3.—Mrs. Vera Prosser, claiming to be an heiress of Denver, was arrested on a charge of shooting her husband on train No. 2 west of Libby and is locked up here. Prosser remained on the train and died near Rexford. Prosser was granted a divorce a few days ago in Seattle. He was on the train en route East and the woman followed him, seeking for a reconciliation.

Town Threatened by Fire.

Watertown, S. D., June 3.—The town of Henry had a narrow escape from total destruction by fire when King's livery barn burned. Nine horses were lost. A bucket brigade formed and saved the business section of the town by keeping water on the roofs threatened by flying embers.

SCORE METHODS NOW IN VOGUE

VOTE IS NOT FAR DISTANT

Senate Will Soon Take Action on Railroad Bill.

SOUGHT TO END THE DEBATE

But the Progressives and Democrats Were Suspicious of Senator Hale's Motion and Senator Clapp of Minnesota Objected to the Agreement to Fix an Hour for the Vote on the Measure—Important Changes Made.

Washington, June 3.—The senate leaders believe they are within twenty-four hours of a vote on the railroad bill. Senator Hale sought to have debate end this afternoon and a vote on the bill itself taken before midnight.

The progressives and Democrats believe they smell a rat in Hale's proposition, expecting that immediately before the shutting off of debate the regulars would offer either the pooling agreement or merger amendment and try to force a vote on it without giving an opportunity to say a word in opposition.

For this reason Senator Clapp objected to the agreement to fix an hour for the vote.

Nevertheless, it is expected on all sides that a vote soon will be reached.

The senate Democrats will meet in an attempt to decide what shall be the Democratic course when a vote on the bill is taken. It was stated that a number of Democrats intended to vote for the bill, and it is expected that as a result of the adoption of the Overman and Injunction amendment the bill will receive more Democratic votes than were in prospect for it before.

The Overman amendment is one of the two far-reaching provisions added to the bill.

It is more in the nature of a rider to the bill, and it does not deal with the interstate, but with the state phase of rate regulation.

It provides that no interlocutory injunction suspending or restraining the enforcement of any statute of a state by restraining the action of any officer of such state in the enforcement of a statute shall be granted by any supreme court justice or federal, circuit or district judge upon the grounds of unconstitutionality, but may be granted by a majority of three judges, one of whom shall be a supreme court justice and the other two either federal, circuit or district judges.

Before Decree Becomes Effective.

Five days' notice to the governor or attorney general of the state whose statute is involved or to the individual officer concerned is required before such an interlocutory decree can go into effect.

To prevent irreparable loss or damage a single judge may grant a temporary order, which shall remain in effect only until the three judges can act on the application. Appeal directly to the supreme court can be taken by either party from the decision of the three judges and the appeal shall have precedence over everything except similar cases or criminal cases.

This amendment was adopted by a vote of 32 to 28 and was received enthusiastically by senators of states whose statutes have been tied up hard and fast by a single federal district judge without prospect of early final adjudication.

The other important amendment was offered by Senator Elkins.

By it the going into operation of the new railroad law is postponed for sixty days. Senator Dooliver demanded of Senator Elkins the purpose of the provision. "It is to let the shipper look into the operations of the new law," said Senator Elkins.

"From the way railroads have been shoving up one rate after another in the past few days," retorted Senator Dooliver, "the shipper will lose more than he will gain by this favor of holding up the law for sixty days. I trust the amendment will not be permitted to prevail."

By a vote of 32 to 25 the senate voted to suspend the operation of the proposed statute sixty days. An effort by Senator La Follette to open the proposed commerce court to the shipper for redress failed by a vote of 29 to 33.

With the bill practically whipped into shape the progressives are jubilant over the wonderful changes that have been wrought in the measure.

ODD CASE IS BEFORE COURT

Must Decide If Teacup Is Dangerous Weapon.

Aberdeen, S. D., June 3.—Herick O'Donnell, a waiter in a restaurant, was fined $100 for hitting Detective Charles E. Zirbes of the local police force on the head with a teacup. After O'Donnell paid his fine he was rearrested on a state warrant, charging assault with a dangerous weapon. His attorney will contend that a teacup is not a dangerous weapon. Between the two cases Zirbes charged a sleeping person as into the restaurant where O'Donnell was employed, and the latter, not knowing Zirbes was an officer, threw the cup, inflicting a painful wound.

Minnesota Educators Criticise School System.

CONVENTION IN CROOKSTON

Discusses the Various Needs of the Northeastern Part of Minnesota. Reapportionment, Agricultural Education and State Aid in Obtaining Settlers for Vacant Lands and New Method of Selling State Lands Advocated.

Crookston, Minn., June 2.—There are many things which the Northern Minnesota Development congress, which opened its session here, wants for this part of the state, but three things stand out pre-eminent—reapportionment, agricultural education and aid from the state in bringing in settlers for the vacant lands in the northeastern part of the state. To accomplish the last of the three they will ask new methods of selling the state lands, more drainage, more thorough advertising and state aid for the building of roads through state lands. That will be discussed when the resolutions committee reports.

Agricultural education occupied much of the time of the afternoon session, talks along this line being made by A. M. Dunton, superintendent of the state agricultural high school at McIntosh; A. J. McGuire, superintendent of the experiment farm at Grand Rapids, and A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agricultural development for the Duluth Commercial club.

Both Hostetter and Dunton criticized severely the present system of schools because it is not giving the people in the rural districts what they need and want. School men, they said, are following the old rut of precedent too closely. Dunton suggested a central township school for the older pupils as a means of remedying conditions and Hostetter suggested an agricultural supervisor to go around to several schools in the country and give talks weekly or oftener.

Professor McGuire said that country products were becoming so scarce in proportion to the population that the poor in the cities are right at the hunger line. The high cost of living, he said, might be due to the scarcity of farmers, because so many had gone to the cities, and it might be due to lack of education and skill in producing the most from the lands. It certainly is not due to the lack of land, he said.

Professor McGuire maintained that the vacant land in Northeastern Minnesota, which comprises nearly a third of the entire state and which is mostly cut over, half timbered country, can be made to produce as good crops as the Red River valley land, which is recognized as the best in the world.

Followed Line of Least Resistance.

The settlers naturally followed the line of least resistance and took the prairie land before the timber land, but when the timber land is developed, he said, it can be made fully as productive. The worst trouble is that the timber land is without roads. In the prairie country two men and eight horses can build a mile of good road in a day, but in timber country it requires $300 to $500. He stated that in one township near Milaca $80,000 had been paid the farmers in one year for butter, and in another in Wadena county $110,000. The same thing can be done in any township in Northeastern Minnesota, he said.

Professor McGuire said that agricultural education was important, but he could do no better than indorse what Dunton and Hostetter had said.

The afternoon session was held at the state agricultural school, two miles north of the city. A special train took the visitors out to the grounds and back, although a number of them went and returned by automobile.

R. C. Dunn of Princeton made the closing talk at the afternoon session, advocating larger tracts for good roads.

How they do it in Denmark was described to the congress by Bernhard Boeggild, professor of the Royal Danish Agricultural college of Copenhagen. His subject was "Co-Operation in Denmark." "It has not always been successful," said the professor. "We tried co-operation in fruit growing and seed production without success. But in some other lines it has been very successful."

Professor Boeggild emphasized the importance of selling, or killing the cows that gave milk that was small in quantity and poor in quality, and not keeping them for milk or breeding purposes.

What amounts to a farmers' trust was advocated by J. H. Grey, professor of economics of the state university, at the evening meeting of the congress.

English Lutherans Meet.

Cannon Falls, Minn., June 3.—The twentieth annual convention of the English Lutheran synod is in session here. The opening sermon was delivered by Rev. A. J. Reichert, president, on "Christian Family Training," which he declared the hope of the nation. Sixty delegates are present from all parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin. The officers elected were: Rev. Reichert, Red Wing, president; Rev. Christy, La Crosse, secretary; C. A. Smith, Minneapolis, treasurer.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

At the Grand

The bill at the Grand this week is above the ordinary and is drawing large houses. The films shown are very dramatic ranging in theme from the wild breezy life of the west to the days of King Arthur's court.

Miss Winifred Smith sings "The Vitagraph Girl". The song tells all about the heroine of the moving pic- ture films.

Hunes and Brown are a musical team whose selections on the clari- net, trombone, baritone and saxo- phone, were heartily applauded. Their best work is shown in the bar- itone and saxophone duet. They are also good singers.

Rallon & La Tour scored a triumph on their opening night and won im- mediate favor with the audience.

Rallon is good in his clarinet and saxophone solos and his dancing.

Miss LaTour was so dainty, petite and piquant and sang so sweetly that she tripped right into the hearts of her audience.

At the Bijou

Two special films of more than or- dinary merit are being shown at the Bijou this week. Tonight and the balance of the week, Hap Stanley and Joe Thompson, local theatre em- ployes, will put on an act entitled, "A Rube Entering College". They have had a huch they can act and their friends say they will make good.

Tan Shoes and Oxfords Specialty Priced
Saturday and Monday

The unusually backward season has left us with quite a surplus stock of summer tans—Shoes and Oxfords—that would probably have been sold a month ago had the season been even usually warm. But—we are willing to take our loss, as our business judgment dictates; so Saturday and Monday we are going to make reductions that will reduce our stock to what it normally should be. Every pair was bought for the season of 1910, and almost every style that fashion decrees in tan footwear, is represented in this line. Since tans are the most practical thing to be had in summer footwear, these reductions should appeal to every economical shoe purchaser in Brainerd.

A close examination of the all wool fadries, the durable linings and trimmings, the high-class workmanship and the conservative lines along which these garments are tailored, will convince you that they are built to give satisfaction in wear, as well as to fit perfectly. Brainerd has landed the next meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development Association, a special to the Dispatch from Crookston, where the June meeting is being held, reporting such action on the part of the convention.

The next meeting will be held in December just before the next legislative meets, and will be of unusual importance for that reason, as a great many projects for the benefit of Northern Minnesota will then be considered and recommended to the legislature for legislative sanction.

Brainerd's delegation left on Wednesday with the fixed determination to secure the honor of the next meeting for Brainerd, and they have made good. It will be an important event for the city.

C. A. Laing died on Thursday afternoon at half past three of heart trouble. He had been in poor health for several months, but not seriously ill until the last week. He had seemed much better during the day and his end came suddenly, without warning, but was peaceful.

Mr. Laing was born August 20, 1837 in County Mayo, Ireland, and came to America when a boy, going west soon after his arrival and spending eight years in gold mining in the western states. OLD PRINTER DIES

Henry Harrison for Several Years a Dispatch Employee, Died at Mora, Minn. May 30

Henry Harrison passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. P. N. Zwicky, at Mora, Minn., after a lingering illness of several months. He became violently ill Sunday morning at 5 o'clock, and died at midnight, May 30th, the cause of death being cancer of the liver.

He was born near the city of Charlestown, West Virginia, on the 4th day of November, 1829. His parents moved to Arkansas in 1836, and three years later to Covington, Kentucky, where he received his education, with the exception of one year in high school at Georgetown. After leaving school he learned the printer's trade, and in 1857 was employed on the Cincinnati Daily Commercial, until the 15th day of April, 1861, when he enlisted in Company F, of the Fifth Ohio, Volunteer Infantry. He was captured and paroled, and afterward exchanged, and enlisted as a veteran in the Heavy Artillery as sergeant under Captain Webb. On July 30, 1864 he was severely wounded at the battle of Fredericksburg, and taken to the White hall hospital where he remained for almost one year. On removal from the hospital he went to New Jersey where he published the New Jersey Mechanic for two years, after which he came to Champaign, Ill., where he worked at his trade for one year, but left there on account of the health of his family and took a homestead near Little Falls, Minn. During the time his family was in the homestead, he spent several years with the St. Paul Evening Dispatch, and the Sibley County Independent. On account of lack of school advantages, he sold his homestead and moved to Brainerd, Minn., where he was employed on the Dispatch, Arena and Tribune.

Nine years ago he moved to Mora, Minn., and was for a time employed on the Mora Enterprise.

In 1876 he was married to Annie McCoy, a native of Ireland. Three sons and three daughters were born of this union, the three sons having died during childhood. Mrs. J. E. Cravens and Mrs. P. N. Zwicky, of Mora, and Mrs. B. J. Hawley, of Minneapolis, the three daughters, are left to mourn his death.

Funeral services were conducted at the St. Mary's Catholic church at Mora, Tuesday, the Rev. Father Levings officiating. His remains were interred in the St. Mary's Cemetery at Mora, beside those of his wife, who passed away six years ago.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for Constipation.

Foley's Kidney Remedy may be given to children with admirable results. It does away with bed wetting, and is also recommended for use after measles and scarlet fever. For sale by all druggists. mwf

Well Painted Property Honors Its Owner

WHENEVER you walk around town, it is natural to compare one man's place with another. The house well painted and in good taste will invariably create a better impression than a more pretentious place costing twice as much, but in need of paint—or with poor paint scaling off its sides. If it is important to paint, it is more important to use the best paint.

Red Seal

Pure White Lead ("Dutch Boy Painter" trade-mark) has made and kept its reputation as the standard for years, because it has resisted the weather, and because it is economical paint. Mixed properly with pure linseed oil at the time of painting, and tinted to any color or shade you want—then put on right by a good painter—your property will have new life, will last longer and will stand any comparison.

Our "Dutch Boy Paint Advertiser No. 12" covers the subject thoroughly with pictures and text. Free on request.
